

Should we remember

Brieve Morison

If the sea that we sail on
Should be sometimes stormy
Should we remember
Those whose oceans are not so free x2
Should we x3

And if the ground that we walk upon
Should be sometimes shaky
Should we remember
Those whose ground has ceased to be
Should we should we x4

And if the sky that we live below
Should be sometimes cloudy
Should we remember x3
Those whose oceans
Are not free
Those whose ground
Has ceased to be
And those whose skies
Rain with steel
And those whose
Hearts cannot feel
Should we (to the end)
