

The harder stuff Brieve Morison

Someone's going to get happy tonight
Someone's going to have to pay
Someone's going to wake up tomorrow bright
Someone's not going to see another day
Someone's going to fall in love
Someone's going to have a falling out
Some will take it quietly others will scream and shout

Someone's going to kill in righteousness
Someone's going to kill in hate
Someone's going to kill in the name of justice
I hope the judge ain't late
Someone's going to kill for love
Someone's going to kill for joy
Someone's going to kill for the man in the moon
To save your little girl or boy

Someone's going to play the game
Someone's going to break the rules
Someone's going to play the wiseman
Someone the perfect fool
Someone's going to make big plans
Someone's going to be left out
Some they think they have all the answers
Others they know what it's all about.

Someone's going to get lucky tonight
Get a chance to turn out the light
Someone's going to make a new friend
If they play their cards just right
Someone's going to try to hard
Someone not hard enough
Someone's going to need a shoulder to lean on Some'll need the harder stuff
The harder stuff the harder stuff